LONDON, July 8 .- The Turkish Government has sent a new note to the British Government demanding that it fix a date upon which Egypt will be evacuated by British troops dollars in gold is on its way here from Buenos country.

The London Police Strike,

LONDON, July 8 .- This morning's newspapers are unanimous in condemnation of the police strike, which sentiment is shared by condemned Sir Edward Bradford's arbitrary policy since his appointment as Chief Com-missioner of Police, but is overwhelmingly favorable to him in its estimate of his conduct lauded and nobody questions its necessity. The police were placed at a decided disadvantage as regards justification, in attempting to strike upon the short notice they gave of their intention, since every member of the force is bound by an agreement to give two months' vice. The agitators of the strike were mainly novices who had everything to gain and little will tempt him to break this rule.

to lose. The veterans of the force hesitated to sacrifice the benefits and advantages of their past long service by following the lead of their hot-headed juniors and their hesitancy in the future will certainly be greater. It is unquestionably to the coolness and better judgment of the older men in the service that the failure of the strike is due. These men had never committed themselves to an out and out strike, and their reluctance to take the step influenced many of their colleagues who otherwise would have responded to the STRIKERS SENTENCED. Two of the dissatisfied policemen have been sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment for having assaulted officers who were performing their duties. The men are already weak ening, and unorganized as they are a general strike is not likely to occur, but isolated disturbances are anticipated before matters remissed constables are petitioning the authorities to condone their offences and reinstate them in their lost positions. FILLEY'S ADDRESS.

When the roll had been called Chairman illey arose and made an extended address.
In substance his remarks were about as fol-

In substance his remarks were about a lows:

"Missouri Republicans have no occasion to be ashamed of themselves. With the courage born of success behind them, and the conviction of success in front of them they are ready for battle and have no fear. Having done so much for the national party in the last election they have reason to feel proud, and to go into the coming campaign with renewed vigor. The party is now without a scentilla of discord in the State or in the city. All are in harmony. Everybody was invited scentilla of discord in the State or in the city. All are in harmony. Everybody was invited to attend the assiston of the committee, who was prominent in the party, without regard to element. The Postmaster and all the Federal officials were invited, the members of the City and Congressional Committees and the members of the Republican and Republican Lesgue Ciubs were invited."

He then went into the party's history in Missouri. The committee, he said, was organized seventeen years ago, and had mantained ever since its continuity and regularity.

ty. "Since we have been at work," he said, "every Democratic victory has shown a Republican gain, until now we have a minority Governer. The day of redemption is near at Governer. The day of redemption is near at hand."

He then spoke at length on the principles of the Republican party, and what it purposed to do. In conclusion he referred to the death of Hon. E. E. Kimbali, the candidate of the Republican party for Governor in the last campaign, and also to the death of two of the committeemen, Mr. Joseph Turner of the Second District and Mr. Robert Alien of the Tenth. He suggested that resolutions upon the death of these Republican lasters be drawn up. This was done. The Committee to draw up resolutions upon the death of Hon. E. E. Kimbali consisted of Judge Barton, Mr. Tracey and O. D. Austin.

The Chairman theory and the the had a number of letters to read. The first was from Senator Wm. P. Frye of Maine, the Chairman of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors. Mr. Filley said he had written the Senator urging the passage of the river and harbor; bill. The Senator announced in his letter that he proposed to do all he could to have the bill passed. "He is in sympathy with us," said the

"He is in sympathy with us," said the Chairman, facetiously, "because you know they have had deep water in Maine for some time." He then read letters from Matt G. Reynolds He then read letters from Matt G. Reynolds. Judge Jacob Klein, Clark H. Sampson, Nathan Cole and C. P. Walbridge, expressing their regret at not being able to be in attend-ance. These letters he said were only sam-ples of a bushel basketful which he had left at home.

On the call of nomination. on the call of nominations for vacancies in the committee, Hon. A. T. Terrell of Moberly was nominated by the Second District to succeed Mr. Joseph Turner, the representative of that district who died recently. He was elected unanimously. Emil L. Dosenbach was nominated to succeed Robert Allen in the Tenth District, and was elected by acclamation. To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ford Smith of the Eighth District, Clark H. Sampson was selected.

It was decided that the next order of business should be the naming of a place for the holding of the State Convention. On motion it was agreed that each city desirons of obtaining the convention should be allowed ten minutes in which to present its claims. The cities which had representives present to put forward their claims on the convention were: St. Louis, Jefferson City, Mexico, Sedslia and St. Joseph.

JEFFERSON CITY SELECTED.

After speeches had been made on behalf of all of the above named cities, a vote was taken, and Jefferson City was secleted. It was decided that the convention should be held in that city on August 25. After the reading and adoption of resolutions upon the death of Hon. E. E. Kimball, and Committeemen Turner and Allen, the committee adjourned.

The musical "physician" whose business i to "tune up" the slackened chords and regulate the action of the instrument of instruments, will remember that the tone, which is three characteristics, viz.; Pitch, quality and roduced and developed according to the Creator, and the artistic principles recognized adjudged as pure tones. These qualities all ombined, however, seldom exist in their purity in the so-called "natural voice," which, like the precious gold-bearing quartz, must be subjected to a refining process whereby the pure resonant metal is separate from its tone-destroying dross.

THE PITCH OR INTONATION. The first characteristic of tone is pitch. which is defined as a property of highness or which is defined as a property of highness or lowness, without some degree of which no tone can exist. If the pitch or intonation desired falls short of the exact number of vibrations per second the tuneful ear immediately recognizes the faisity, and it is termed "flat," while, on the contrary, if a greater number of vibrations per second is produced than is absolutely necessary, the intonation will also be false and termed sharp. Therefore, this false, flat intonation is caused by too much laxity of the vocal ligaments, and false sharp intonation by toe much tension of the vocal ligaments. A cure of this imperfection, if not the direct ness of hearing required to put in perfect tune such instruments is also an excellent test for musical earg.

The second characteristic of tone is quality of timbre.

This characteristic, when produced in its purity, is the result of a correct development of tone, through the resonant cavities of the vocal organs, etc. In this characteristic lies the charm of the singing voice as well as the different color of tone in the variety of musical instruments. By the operation of the resonant or the fundamental tone, which is the result of the vibration of air by the larynx, is perfectly developed only by the combination of overtones with it.

The sound of a tuning fork, when its fundamental is reinforced by suitable resonance-cavity, is very nearly a simple tone.

By sounding simultaneously several forks of different but appropriate pitch, with the requisite relative intensities, Helmholtz succeded in reproducing sounds peculiar to various musical instruments and even in imitating most of the vowel sounds of the human testing most of the vowel sounds of the human testing the said other experiments is ceeded in reproducing sounds peculiar to various musical instruments and even in imitating most of the yowel sounds or the human voice. By this and other experiments it appears that he has been able to determine, both analytically and synthetically, that the quality of a given sound depends upon what overtones combine with its fundamental and on their relative intensities.

Some of the impediments to the development of the impre or quality of sone in the human voice, are, first, the improper action of the epiglottis (root of the tongue), or cover of the glottis, which obstructs the free delivery of tone. This action of the epiglottis, although improper in the sot of singing, is of course the proper and natural action in the act of swallowing food or liquids, for its office is to prevent the food from entering the windpipe. But if this movement of the "unruly member" is allowed to take place, even partially in the act of singing, the quality of tone will be much impaired. This obstable to the development of tone has been called the most difficult, trying and perplexing impediments to overcome in the entire resim of voice culture. But with patience and perseverance the almost insurmountable difficulty can be made to depart. The aim of the student must be to make his rebellious tongue "back down." Let him carry out this operation before a mirror, whereby he can see and arrange the proper position of the tongue, then let nim sing co, gradually changing the sound into o and ending with ah. Also repeating several times the syllable "too," "ah koo" and "koo ah." During this exercise the pupil should direct and allow the tone to come well forward in the mouth.

Singers with large nostrils are very much andicapped in producing a pure quality of tone. They should, however, consult a skill-in object and a skill-in object and a skill-in object as a second and the will probably advise the extended to the control of the tone to come well forward in the mouth.

through care and intellectual consideration. "Can any voice be strengthened, be it ever so weak?" I answer, yes, provided the health of its possessor will permit the serious necessary practice. Power of tone depends largely on aptitude of vibrations, and aithough we have no standard of measurement of the amplitude of vibrations, and aithough we have no standard of measurement of the amplitude of vibration, yet we are enabled to judge of the degree of sensations produced on the tympanum of the ear by the loudness of sound. This loudness, however, is the result of the force at which the vibrations strike the tympanum of the ear. This operation, which depends upon the manner in which the vitalizing energy is exerted upon the vocal ligaments, is induced and controlled largely by the respiratory muscles. It must be borne in mind, however, that although the vibrations may be enlarged to their fullest extent, yet the carrying qualities of the tone may not be

NATURALLY IMPROVED.

When the column of air is formed between the larynx and midriff, if allowed to become exhausted by any other pressure than that of the diaphragm, the vibrations will have a tendency to descend as well as ascend, and thus it will readily be seen that the vibratory power is necessarily weakened; but if the column of air is directed and followed up by the action of the diaphragm, as the expiration takes place, there will be more of a solid body of air formed which will cause the vibrations, produced by the vocal ligaments, to rebound in a drumlike manner and be thrust into the nasal cavities and against the roof of the mouth, where they will receive additional reinforcements and finally be sent out ringing the open space in a trumpet-like tone.

The power of intensity of the artistic voice does not depend, as some people suppose, upon the greater the power of tone, but of paying out the preadous breater that forces of breath the greater the power of tone, but of paying out the preadous breater the roof of the mouth, where they will receive addit

Commerce Commission was to-day engaged in hearing the case of the Kauffman Milling

Commerce Commission was to-day engaged in hearing the case of the Kaufman Milling Co. of St. Louis vs. the Missouri Facific and about twenty other Western and Southwestern railroad companies. The charge in this case is that defendant companies levy and collect for the transportation of flour from St. Louis and other Northern and Western points to points in Texas, a greater rate than they charge for the transportation of wheat between the same points, making a differential rate between wheat and its manufactured product, flour, of 5 cents or more per 100 pounds; that this differential is an unjust and lilegal discrimination against complainant Defendants in their answers deny that this differential gate is unjust or unreasonable, but hold that it ought to be greater than it is because of the increased cost of handling flour over that of handling wheat. It is also alleged on beneit of certain of the companies that there are a large number of fleur manufacturing mills in Texas and that if the roads were to charge the same for the transportation of wheat and grain from Kansas and Missouri points to Texas mills would be unable to compete with the mills in those States and would be required to operate at a loss or retire from business. The Texas millers appear in the case as interveners in support of the Dosition of the railway companies. They deny that the Kansas and Missouri millers are entitled to an equal rate on wheat and flour; but that on the contrary, the Texas millers are entitled to seems. They deny that the Kansas and Missouri millers are entitled to concern freight Agent of the Houston & Texas Central Railroad, testified that a differential between wheat and flour had existed for over ten years. This differential was originally as high as 40 per cent, and had gradually lowered to its present rate. The resons for it were the differences in the value of wheat and flour, in the cost of service, in the revenue derived therefrom, etc.

WASHINGTON, July 8 .- Aldace F. Walker, attorney for several railways, appeared be-fore the Interstate Commerce Commission this morning, in the matter of alleged excesthis morning, in the matter of alleged excessive freight rates and charges on food products, to show cause why an order should not be made by the commission based on the findings and conclusions centained in its recent report to the Senato on the subject. Mr. Walker argued that if the conclusions referred to were carried into effect they would produce the following results:

1. An immediate reduction of more than 10 per cent in the present emergency tariff rates upon corn from the States of Kansas and Nebraska to Mississippi River points and of nearly 10 per cent in like rates to Chicago.
2. A reduction of more than 20 per cent in the rates upon cats and barley from the same States.

States.

3. A reduction even larger than the latter in the rate upon wheat from the same States to the same points, amounting to nearly 30 per cent from nearly all points in Kansas and cent from nearly all points in Kansas and Nebraska.

4. A very material reduction in the rates apon all kinds of grain and mill products from all points in Kansas to all points of the State of Texas.

5. Reductions of about 15 per cent in rates on corn and much more on wheat from the Missouri River and points in lowa to Chicago and Mississippi River points.

6. A very material reduction in all grain rates from South Dakota, North Dakota and Minnesota.

rates from South Dakota, North Dakota and Minnesota.

7. The establishment of the proposed rates as permanent maximum rates without regard to possible future conditions.

8. The establishment of an arbitrary rule under which oats, rye and barley shall always receive the same rates as corn, and the rate upon wheat products shall be about 15 per cent higher.

There were brilliant prospects this morning for a continuation of the hot weather of yesterday, but a brief storm at midday lowered the temperature considerably. At 6 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 81 degs., and the readings after that were as follows: 7 o'clock, 79 deg.; at 8 o'clock, 79 deg.; at 9 o'clock, 80 deg.; at 10 o'clock, 88 deg.; at 11 o'clock, 89 deg.; at 12 o'clock, 80 deg.; at 1 o'clock, 79 deg.; at 2 o'clock, deg.; at 1 o'clock, 79 deg.; at 2 o'clock, 81 deg. The storm did not last long, and so far as the reports showed it was simply local, but its effects were marked and very agreeable. The sudden fall in the temperature and the fresh winds which accompanied it prevented St. Louisians from having to endure the intense heat from which Chicagoans are suffering. The Signal Service officers say that light showers may be locked for and the prospects for to-morrow are for cooler weather.

GLOVER'S CHARACTER.

He Enters Suit for That Amount Agains John F. Shepley and Edward S. Rebert-A Sequel to the Settlement of the Estate of Glover and Shepley.

received and entered on the records of the ircult Clerk's office this morning from ex-Congressman John M. Glover, who is now in New York, against John F. Shepley and Edward S. Robert, both well known attorneys, by which he seeks to recover $50,000, alleging that he is entitled to damages to that amount by reason of an action filed against him by these attorneys in the April erm of the Circuit Court. Mr. Glove prepared the petition in New and sent it on through the agency of a regis tered letter. This morning the papers were turned over to the Sherin's office for service. in the petition Mr. Robert's name appears as Robart, and when the papers were given to latter's office as to the propriety of serving Mr. Robert, even though he wa intended by the author of the petition.

THE ORIGIN OF THE SUIT. Mr. Glover's suit is the outgrowth of an action filed some months since against him by Messrs. Shepley & Robert to recover $68,000, alleged to be due the estate of the partnership of Glover & Shepley both deceased. Mr. Glover had been admin-istrater and the petition contained the allega-tion that in his final settlement he failed to turn over the amount alleged to be due. The suit was filed by Mr. Robert as attorney for Mr. Shepley, the latter figuring as adminis-trator de bouls non of the estate of Glover & Shepley.

Mr. Shepley, the latter figuring as administrator de bouls non of the estate of Glover & Shepley.

Mr. Glover, as is known, is a son of the late Samuel T. Glover, and Mr. John F. Shepley bears the same relation to the late John R. Shepley, also deceased. The old law firm of Glover & Shepley was one of the most prominent in the city, and both members left large estates. Aside from their individual estates, they left a partnership estate, and this was administered on by John M. Glover.

Mr. Glover was appointed June 27, 1884, by the Probate Court and made his final settlement and was discharged lastyear.

Mr. Glover was appointed June 27, 1884, by the Probate Court and made his final settlement and was discharged lastyear.

Mr. Glover states in his charges in his petition that the allegation contained in the action filed against him last April by Messrs. Shepley and Robert contained malicious and defamatory statements and that he is entitled to 550,000 inasmuch as they have not been established. His petition takes up that of Mr. Shepley section by spection and discusses the allegations in each in a vigorous style. "The statement that he was then or is now indebted to the astate of Glover & Shepley for in moneys that he failed to account for amounting to $66,000, as a wanton and malicious faisehood."

Under paragraph number 2 the petitioner states that the statement that he was ordered to pay the alleged shortage to the Probate Court is also wantonly and maliciously faise. In this connection, he says that when the final settlement was made Mr. Shepley evaded a hearing on his exceptions to the said final settlement and that the court made no order fixing the plaintiff (Glover) with liability of I cent to the estate.

The Allegation in the petition filed last April that J. M. Glover received from J. R. Shepley, administrator of the estate of Glover & Shenley, since deceased, the sum of $81,675 is next taken up and vigorously denied. In his claim for $90,000 the ex-Congressman says that the allegation was false; that he received only $5,594, and points to the records in the Probate Court as proof of his denial.

A "MALICIOUS FALSENOOD."

The next statement he touches on in his petition is that he failed to make a settlement of his accounts upon oath to the Probate Court. This he characterizes in his petition as a "malicious faischood," The final statement under oath, he avers, was on file then in the Probate Court. In conclusion Mr. Glover states in his petition that the statements made and given publicity were prompted by a malicious desire to make him spear guilty of breach of trust and the misuse of trust funds. The suit is almed particularly at Mr. Shepley, though Mr. Robert, who represented Mr. Shepley in the suit last April, figures as co-defendant.

THE DEFENDANTS.

ticularly at Mr. Shepley, though Mr. Robert, who represented Mr. thepley in the suit last April, figures as co-defendant.

THE DEFENDANTS.

There are two counts in Mr. Glover's petition and he asks $50,000 on each, making his claim for damages amount to $100,000.

The suit filed against him last April by Mr. Shepley is still pending in the Circuit Court against his surcites, the case having been dismissed as to Mr. Glover himself. In his claim for damages Mr. Glover himself. In his claim for damages Mr. Glover touches on the dismissiot the suit, so far as he was concerned in it as defendant. Mr. Glover & Shepley setate by Mr. J. F. Shepley.

Mr. Robert, who represented Mr. Shepley as counsel and who is a defendant in Mr. Glover's action for damages, was seen to-day by a Post-Dispard's reporter and declined to make any statement.

Mr. Shepley is at present attending a Japanese Exposition in Japan and will not return for some time.

THE MERCHANTS' TERMINAL.

Efforts to Impede the Tracks in Entering the Union Depot.

The officers of the Merchants' Bridge & Terminal Co. are at present engaged in a struggle to gain access to the Union Depot, it being their opinion that an effort is being made to keep them from connecting with lines having tracks in the depot. The line will run on elevated tracks to Cerre street, between Seventh and Eighth streets. Here the street level will be reached and the tracks will run, one due west to Gratiot and Twelfth streets and the other will proceed over the joint line of the Atchison and Merchants' Terminal to a point south of the Union Depot tracks. Here the Missouri Pacific have several tracks connecting with their freight depot at Seventh and Popiar streets. Additional tracks have been laid, occupying the street, and the Merchants' Terminal will be obliged to condemn a right of way diagonally across these streets to the Union Depot yards. President Seth W. Cebb states that although they may be slightly delayed, they will surely obtain a convenient entrance to the Union Depot. struggle to gain access to the Union Depot,

The most serious accident occurred at the house of Mrs. Serious accident occurred at the house of Mrs. McCarthy, seven children who sought shelter in a coal bin being killed by the failing of the roof. Mrs. McCarthy was seriously hurt. About twenty persons were more or less injured by being jostled around in the cars of the Northern Pacific train, which was turned over by the wind, but no one was killed. The train had just builed out of town when the wind struck it, overturning nine coaches and the baggage cars.

The total damage done to the city is estimated at $73,000. The surrounding country for a radius of thirty miles suffered, several good wheat crops being almost ruined. Farm houses and barns were damaged and some of them entirely destroyed.

The reports from the small towns show that the storm was extensive. Casselton reports bridges down; Mapleton sports no serious injuries to persons but considerable wrecking of buildings; Dublin, Wheatland and Ayer make the same reports. towers blown over and

The President of a bank was asked this question: "Suppose I give a man a check on my bank for any sum of money and when the check is presented the paying teller, not knowing the holder, certifies the check; the holder gets it cashed outside; in the course of time the check reaches the bank upon which it is drawn; in the meantime I have learned that the representations upon which I gave the check were false and made for the purpose of committing an illegal act; I have notified the bank that such is the case. When the check is presented is the bank bound to pay it and am I the loser?"

The reply of the bank President is: "Tes, the bank must honor its own certification; inasmuch as the check was certified on the fact that you had a bank account where the check was presented, and that the signature of such check was yours, you must lose. You have no recourse unless you catch the fellow who made the misrepresentation, and that doesn't slways get the money. own selfish and corrupt ends. The result of the popular vote alone will tell whether a majority of the people of Louisiana consent to deliver the State over to degradation. Neither money nor base means will be spared to accomplish this end. But when this is done it is possible to confine the disgrace to that State and to turn the fruits of the gambling syndicate's victory into ashes. The union of the respectable people of other States against the vile partnership of Louisiana with a gambling swindle, the strengthening and strict enforcement of State laws against lotteries and the improvement of Federal legislation in this direction will that the Federal power shall control the make Louisiana both partner and victim. and will bring such disasters upon her people that the lottery evil will become unbearable.

A STRANGE CHICAGO VERDICT.

The verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the case of "BILLY" BRENNAN, who died from injuries received in a fight with FRANK GARRARD at Chicago, Thursday night, holds no one except the victim responsible for his death. GARRARD and the brutal "sports" for whose profit or entertainment BRENNAN was done to death under circumstances which were in themseves violations of law, go scot free. This verdict of a Chicago jury reminds one of the famous verdict of a Western border jury in which it was held "that the deceased came to his death in consequence of being a durned fool." BRENNAN was undoubtedly a fool and invited his fate. He was himself engaged in a brutal and illegal occupation and was attempting to injure his opponent as much as possible. THE first duty of St. Louisans is to see the men who hired him to fight or the with each other. But the reporters and and the doctor who examined BRENNAN fall which caused his death occurred. passed on him in November. The play was of a fatal sort.

The Chicago jury, however, took the

NOT A MATTER OF PRINCIPLE.

It is given out that Mr. BLAINE's recent utterances condemning the McKinley bill and advocating a form of reciprocity, which is but a step in the direction of free fair count be made and that no "padtrade, were dictated not by principle but ding" be allowed in case of a recount, is by policy. It is also announced that he a sad reflection on the honor and honesty has no patience with people, who talk of the gentlemen having the census in about the "principle" of protection. Pro- charge and of all his fellow St. Louisans. tection with him is simply a mafter of The lack of confidence between the Major found that another policy is better calculated to catch votes.

As a matter of "principle" it does not much matter what Mr. BLAINE says on | that his census returns were accurate and this or any other subject, but it is certainly significant that the shrewdest politician in his party is throwing out suggestions of this sort as feelers for public opinion. The average man is never a see of the accuracy of his count is of a so well pleased as when he is told something he has already learned and it is the THE revelations of the New York World business of shrewd politicians to know concerning the Behring Sea negotiations, what and how much the voter has learned truth, certainly indicate that the matter surer proof could be brought forward that has reached an acute stage, and that good the voter has learned something since the temper and good judgment are now more election of 1888 than the recent bold and of the strongest Republican newspapers

That the Republican party has only a vote-catching policy, as flexible as it is unsorupulous, has been abundantly shown during the progress of the McKinley bill, in which the influence of money has been tempered only by a fear of the influence of hostile yotes. The one has been balanced against the other in pursuance of a policy of expediency, Mr. BLAINE has discovered that the people are abandoning the "principle of protection." It is only natural that a politician so shrewd should hasten to change his policy and put himself in harmony with the newly

A REED organ advocating Federal control of elections says: "There is no "limit to the Federal power of regulating "Federal elections." If this is true it follows that there is no limit to the Federal power of regulating the election of a State's Legislature, when that election determines the election of a United States Senator and the appointment of presidential electors. But the Constitution expressly limits the Federal power over the choice of electors by providing that they shall be appointed in each State "in "such manner as the Legislature thereof "may direct," and the wildest advocate of centralization has not dared to propose election of State Legislatures.

THE argument used by Speaker REED, his friends and his organs for the adoption of gag rules in the Senate is that they will enable that body to expedite the passage of necessary and desirable measures. But what necessary and desirable measures have REED's arbitrary rules and rulings expedited in the House? As a matter of fact the needed good legislation has been neglected and the rules have been used to the utmost to force partisan and revolutionary bills through. It is hardly possible that the Senate, which prides itself upon being a deliberative body, will consent to assume the character of the present House,

THE LIST OF OMISSIONS.

IT NOW CONTAINS BETWEEN 800 AND 400 NAMES OMITTED FROM THE CENSUS.

An Important Circular Sent by the Co tee to the Merchants and Business Men of St. Leuis-Maj. Weigel Complains Besuse a Personal Letter to Supt. Porter

Maj. Weigel's influence and that of his may or may not have its effect in Vashington, but in St. Louis it is nil because the citizens of St. Louis are determined to have a recount of inhabitants if it is possibl to obtain one and they are working to that end. Secretary Frank of the Citizens' Committee has already received between 800 and 400 names of persons who have been omitted, and that represents the work of only a day and a half, including yesterday and this morning. Every mail brings additional evi-dence of the incorrectness of the count, and that evidence is accumulating at a rate which soon make it sufficient to overwhelm Weigel and his general statements as elsewhere. The people are manifesting erest in the work and it will not be long fore the committee will be able to send to Washington the proofs that the census is a failure. And this work is reliable, certainly, for the letters reporting the omissions all indicated that care was being exercised. One gentleman, for example, wrote: "I will not say that my family, six in number, are not included, but if they out of the city during the enumeration, but on my return I made inquiries, and my family tells me that no enumerator visited the house." Another writes advising visited the house." Another writes advising an investigation in a certain district, and says he is informed that the enumerator said one night that he was not half through his work and on the next day turned in his lists marked "complete." The writer adds that he does not know this of his own knowledge, but he informs the committee how positive information concerning this incident may be obtained. This is the kind of work that is being done and it will count, too, in the end.

being done and it will count, too, in the end.

MAJ. WEIGEL'S ERROR.

One thing has occurred which will do St. Louis an infinite amount of good in securing for St. Louis an order for a recount. Maj. Weigel, when the census had been closed up, gave the figures at 433,000 and said that the exact figures, which would be given out from Washington, would not vary 200 one way or the other from that amount. And since his schedules went to Washington Maj. Weigel has been defending this estimate as the correct census, carefully taken and as accurate as the census of any other city. Fortunately he committed himself to these figures, for now the census bureau itself confutes him and shows him the inaccuracy of this work. Instead of 435,000, or within 200 of that figure, the Census Superintendent says that the population of St. Louis according to Maj. Weigel's own schedules is 448,124, a difference in favor of St. Louis according to Maj. Weigel's own schedules is 448,124, a difference in favor of St. Louis and not in the utter incapacity of the St. Louis caness corps than this part of its inability to add figures correctly? And as usual, the mistake was at the cost of St. Louis and not in its favor. If the official returns sent iorward to Washington contain such gross and inexcusable blunders as this work has been carelessly done and is full of errors. Add to this the fact that between three hundred and four hundred omissions have been discovered in a day and a half and there is already justification for ordering a recount.

To the Merchants, Manufacturers and Business Men of St. Louis:

The undersigned, a joint committee appointed by Mayor Noonan, President Kauffman of the Merchants' Exchange and President Case of the Mercantile Club, to urge unon the Secretary of the Interior and the Superintendent of the Ceasus the importance and justice of ordering a re-cnumeration of the inhabitants of the city, respectfully ask your earnest co-operation in the work they have undertaken. It is very important that a full and complete list of all those who were omitted from the last enumeration should be in the possession of the committee as soon as possible.

You will please hand this circular to a reliable person in your establishment and ask him to place under the proper heading on the reverse side the name and address of those who were not included in the count just finished. It is assumed that you recognize the importance of this matter and that no arguing that under the influence of the silver compromise finally agreed upon vesterday it. ment is required to induce you to give it your prompt attention.

actions have thereby been placed in a false light."

And in that letter he spoke of St. Louis in a manner that would have done credit to one of Chicago's habitual railers at St. Louis. He said the population was at a standatili; that from works had been closed down, hundreds of men were out of employment and the census of 1880 was padded. It contained an argument, based on the registered vote, to show that St. Louis could not have more inhabitants than his estimate of 453,000 indicated. And Maj. Weigel thought he had been badly treated because this "personal letter" had been given publicity at a time when he was insisting that he was opposed to a recount, but the discovery of an error of 15,000 in that estimate which, according to Maj. Weigel, could not be wrong, will have its effect.

There was a sharp decline in Elizabeth and this stock reached the lowest point that it has this stock reached the lowest point that it has touched in several months. On the street $2,05 was bid during the morning and 200 shares sold at that quotation. When the curb opened the price fell to $2,0215, and 300 shares were disposed of at that figure. More was offered, but no sales could be made, and offers fell to $2. At this point the supporters of the stock railled and stopped the decline, buying 700 shares. The market closed at $2,0245 asked, $2 bid, The changes in quotations are believed to be purely speculative, as it is not expected that any developments of importance can be expected during the present year.

Buckskin was in good demand, but sellers were plenty, and it declined in price. The market opened with sales aggregating 500 shares at 11%, followed by transfers equal in amount at 11. The decline continued, 1,000 shares bringing 10%, and 100 shares selling at 10, the closing quotation.

Central Silver was firm at 16¼, at which figure 1,100 shares were sold; 18 was bid for 2,000 shares, and the stock was offered in 1,000-share lots at 17½.

A letter from the American and Nettle states that the ore in the drift is increasing in amount and quality. The shipments last week consisted of fifty tons of low grade, and eighty tons of high grade ore. The stock was somewhat stronger, 100 shares bringing $1.85.

Mickey Breen remained unchanged; 500 shares sold at $1.25, and the stock was subsequently offered at that price.

A sale of 2,000 shares of 'Frisco was made on the street this morning, $10 being paid for the lot.

SPRINKLING CONTRACTORS STILL HOLDING UP THEIR PRICES.

Six Districts Bid on To-Day-The Rates s Little Lower Than These of Last Letting, but Still High-Joseph Owes the City Over $3,000-A Few Facts and Figures.

Nothing of a definite snape has been don n the last two days on the sprinkling subject in general, beyond giving the contractors in structions as to what to do and receiving bids on six districts. Acting Com-missioner Bauschenbach said to-day: "I have no sprinkling matters before the board to-day because I am waiting for the results of to-day's bids, and for reports from the inspectors. The reports will show which of the contractors have falled to comply with the orders sent by the department to put on more carts. The them to comply with this order expires to-day so that I will get the reports to-morrow. On the result of to-day's bids we cancel more contracts or not." The miscel aneous reports and complaints coming int the sprinkling office show no evidences of the regular reports of the inspectors show ever. What the St. Louis company will do it

THE BIDS were opened at 12 o'clock. There were not as many bidders as was expected and the prices fell lower than those asked at the last letting, but they are still somewhat high as compared with the prices the St. Louis company was being paid before the contracts were canceled. The bids were:

The sprinkling men all deny the fact that a combine exists among them, but the evidence of to-day's bid is very formidable against them. In the first place, there is a very remarkable uniformity between the differences between this set of bids and the last. They do not in any case go as high as last time, nor do they drop too far down.

In District No. 18 Poliman & Bro. bid just $5 higher than Pfefie, who does not bid on any other districts. None of the bids were allowed to go low enough in any one district to warrant the rejection of the others. All the bidders stayed well in line and put their bids close together.

HOT SUMMER RESORTS. Chicago, New York and Boston Suffering

From Excessive Heat. CHICAGO, Ill., July 8 .- Yesterday was the hottest day of the season. It was more than that. It was the hottest day in Chicago since July 1, 1888. On that date the thermometer went up to 94 degrees. Yesterday 93 2-10 was the hottest, that was at 6 o'clock. It steadily fell at that hour. At 10 o'clock it was 79. The The wind was from the south all day, blowing at the rate of twenty to twenty-five miles per "This weather will continue for a couple of days," Sergt. Frankenfield says. "There is low barometer in the North along, the Cana border, and a high barometer in Gulf States. The barometer is falling slightly in the South, so that, though the wind will by southerly, it will more likely be by southerly, it will more likely be from the southeast than the southwest, and for that reason a little cooler. A maximum temperature will probably be somewhere around 90 deg. There is very little humidity in the atmosphere, The rain fall was up north, and there was a trace of rain at North Platte, seb., but that was as far south as it got. I cannot promise any rain here right away."

Although yesterday was nearly a degree hotter than any one of the eight days of hot weather through which the city has just passed, there were comparatively few cases of sunstroke reported and no deaths. This was doubtless due in a great measure to the dryness of the atmosphere.

makers of the country. Every preciates a good speculation and during the past six months the fortunes of most of them have been growing like Jonah's gourd. Senator Stanford, before ne left for Europe, gave minute instructions as to the sale of his horses on the Palo Alto farm and he has concluded to hold his Electioneer colts for a rise. On this stock farm Stanford has 125 stallions, 160 brood mares and 230 fillies and geldings, each of which is worth a fortune and the poorest of which will bring more at a horse auction than a cierk's yearly salary. Stanford began his horse breeding, be once sold me, for the benefit of his health, got interested in it and kept it up until ne made it pay. He has certain plans and theories of breeding stock peculiar to himself and when he first advanced these the other horse breeders of the United States laughed at him and called him "Crazy Stanford." A few years' experiment and the exright and he now gets the highest prices in the certain seconds of every race the trotting orse had all his feet off the ground at the same time. This was sneered at until Stan-The result proved that Stanford was correct to horse breeding profits. He has miles of stock and he receives every year as least good turn every now and then in speculation and not long ago while riding across the Potomac to Arlington he stopped his horse at ing up and down the river told his private secretary to buy all the land he could see from that point on the Virginia side. The private two years at least to perfect the titles and get hold of the property. Senator Stanford said nothing about the matter for six months told my partner that he was willing to give me the option on it for thirty days for $125,000, and that I could have all that I made over this in the sale. Had I been in I would have i jupped at the chance, for I know that the property was worth a great deal more than the amount stated. I was up in the country, however, and the man being in a hurry handed it over to some one cless. It was sold inside of three weeks for $375,000 to Jerome B. Chaffee. Mr. Chaffee afterwards told me that he was sorry I had not gotten the sale, and he complimented me by saying that he would rather have given me the extra $250,000 than the other fellow. This is nothing, however, and lucky chances come to ali men."

In this connection perhaps no man has taken more advantage of his chances in a legitimate was sitting yesterday afternoon just next to Senator Teller. He was drossed in a pepper and salt suit, and as Hooked at him he did not seem a day older than when I came to Washington seven years ago. It was at this time that he made his big speculation in suburban real setate here, out of which gossipasay he made a clear $200,000. He has been investing in other properties since then, and everything he touches seems to turn into gold. He does not allow his money to lie idle, and, as Senator Palmer once said of him, he likes to make a good speculation as much now as he ever did. It would be impossible for a man like Sherman to remain poor. He is cautious and conservative, and, though not stingy, he is economical. He knows a good thing when he sees it and is not afraid to take hold of it. His property at Mansfeld, O., has been increasing in wale right slong, and he lately gave a part of it to the city as a park, and this materially increased the value of that which remained. He has a number of good renting houses in Washington, has bank stocks scattered here and there over the country, and was for a time one of the directors of the Pittsburg. Fort Wayne & Chicago Raiiroad. He is however more of an investor than a speculator. However more

Do you ever stop to think, girls, that clothes are emblematic—of yourselves? We are going to give you a chance to-morrow to shadow forth your own sweet selves in the most beautiful and bewitching fashion for 12½c a yd. You know those exquisitely dainty zephyrs, the lovely, fine, number sixteen hundred, best American goods made? Well, we will offer every piece left in the house to-morrow for 12½c a yard—that will include all the exclusive high art novelties—chartreuse green plaided in a lovely red brown, the new greyish, and darker blues barred in dark rich browns and reds with a white stripe running through, clive green plaids or cream ground, old rose and tobac brown, a wonderfully pretty light brown plaided with deep mahogany and cream, and a French blue with cross stripes in "old" blue and white. Then there's quite a novelty in black and white, broad black stripes crossed with narrow white ones.

By the by, there's a few left of that grand job purchase of linens, dresser scarfs with open work centers and borders, regular dollar-quarter goods that we will close out to-day for 51 cents each.

accommodates ten persons. As the cadets march in they arrange themselves behind their chairs and await orders. "Company A, be seated," shouts the orderly sergeans of that company. Each cadet hangs his has upon a hook in the back of his chair and takes his seat at the table. The other companies are seated in like manner. There are three courses. The bast of soup is served, and plenty of it. Then come roast meats, and they are roasted to a turn. After that dessert is piaced upon the table. Sometimes it is pudding and at others it is strawberries, pineapples or other delicacies in their seasons. The cadet at the head of the table serves the soup, the meat and the dessert. All are continuing his studies. This time is granted as a compensation for acting as subdivision inspector.

Such is what is known as a "scratch day": among the cadets. It begins at 5:45 a. m. and lasts till 10:30 p. m. Another day is cubbed "snap day." Snap and scratch days alternate. The only difference between them is that on snap day there is no Spanish recitation and a recitation in ordnance takes the place of the one in law. A cavalry drill occupies the time between 12:15 and 1 p. m. is reserved for bathing.

Cadet Edgar Jadwyn of Honesdale, Pa., took the nighest honors in the graduating class this year. Four years ago this class entered the academy with 124 members. It is but at the average at West Point. This brief description of a day's work in the academy is from Jadwyn's own lips. It would be interesting to know how many of the thousands of boys now longing for a cadetship at West Point think they could stand this trying ordeal for four years. Amos J. Cummings.

The past week's exports from soven Atlantic ports were 1 14,004 bbis flour, 50,520 bu wheat, 1,813,165 bu corn. 2,460 bbis pork, 1,503,384 bb shoon, 9,290,771 bb.lard.

Au exchange says: "The outturn of the Indian crop was not up to first estimates, and with the amount of wheat on passage for Europe steadily getting lower the buyers abroad have been covering shorts and buying a little cash and some for future delivery. Is will require a general change in the weather abroad to harvest a good crop. As yet bu a small amount of damage has been really done, it the foreigners would be heavy buyers instead o moderate buyers, but the crop is in a critical posisition, and it would take but little to make a poor outturn."

has caused a great sensation in high social John Windrim of Philadelphia, a son of Govnt Architect James H. Windrim, and Miss Eva Evans of the "Sea King" company. They were married in New York last Satu They were married in New York last Saturday about noon, and Sunday evening came to this city. Young Windrim has been infatuated with Miss Evans ever since he first saw her. He pressed his suit with fervor and was not unkindly received. When the "Sea King" company left the Chestnut street theater and went to New York, Mr. Windrim went too. On the Fourth he was in this city and sent a telegram to his lady love, saying he would be in New York in a few hours. He went over and had a long talk with her, and she promised to marry him provided he got his father's consent. The young man saw his father in Washington, but with or without the consent the happy couple were married the next day. "Jack" Windrim, as he is familiarly known about town, is a handsome young man of 24 years. He has light nair and expressive eyes, is quite an athlete in a way, and has conducted his father's private business as an architect in this city for some years with considerable success. He is a prominent member of the Art Club and quite a social favorite. While not wealthy, the business in which he is interested with his father is good. The Windrims have been the State. NATHAN CLARK'S DEATH. Another Story as to How He Received the Injuries Which Proved Fatal. Work-house prisoner named John Kelley, who has just been released, tells a strange story about Nathan Clark, the negro who died under very peculiar circumstances on June denies that Clark was sick or ng signs of injury when ad-d. He seemed well and was in cell $2. The night was hot put in cell 32. The night was hot and there was no drinking water in the bucket. Clark asked Pat Ryan, the night guard, for some water but was told to go to bed and not to ask for water again, as the o'clock beil had rung. Clark, however, repeated his request, whereupon Kyan, according to Kelley's statement, fetched another guard, who rushed into the cell and knocked Clark down, continuing to club him, although blood was sporting from his head. Supt. Carroll met this guards, as they were carrying. Carroll met the guards as they were carrying the injured man away and ordered him to be sent to the Civy Hospital.

Mr. Carroll denies the accuracy of the story as told by Kelley.

THE FUNERAL OF THE WENDLANDT SUI-CIDES AT HOBOKEN.

Sympathetic Neighbors of the Unfortunate Family Attend the Services in St. John's Church - Pastor Freund's Touching Sermon - The and Story of Franz Wendlandt, the University Student, Poet, Musician and Scholar. NEW YORK, July 8.—Two massive oaken caskets stood in front of the altar rails The silver trimmings were very heavy. St. John's Church, Hoboken, was thronged with people. Many diamonds glistened in the ears of welldressed women. The good people are stricker with sorrow. Franz Wendlandt, the university student, the poet, the musician, the scholar, was dead because he could not get food, and his sweet-faced wife and the litt one were dead, too. He could not get enough food for them either. So when this man dewife to join him in the dark waters with the little one so that they be not separated in death, the good people of ken were struck to the heart. There was money a plenty. The committee had to refuse contributions to defray the expense of the burial. The church was terribly crowded and nearly every one of prominence in Ho-boken was there. Mrs. Amelia Knobbe, who recently became Mrs. Deplace, the legal creditor who was about to seize the little belongings of the Wandlandts, was there. It was she who scoffed the idea that Wendlandt had committed suicide. The deep toned organ swelled out its solemn music, the same music which young Franz Wendlandt loved so well to draw forth.

THE PASTOR'S SERMON. Pastor Freund shook his snowy hair from his forehead and began to speak earnestly touchingly. He gently chided his people for holding to the old medieval idea of refusing suicides Christian burial. He spoke of the man's terrible struggle with poverty. He followed the workings of his mind through those dark days. Then in a tender, loving way he pronounced a benediction over the unfortunate. Their benediction over the unfortunate. Their sorrow was so terrible, he said, that Christ would forgive them. Rev. Gottlieb Andrae of South Bergen followed. Wendlandt was the organist of the Third Retormed Church of Bayonne, of which Rev. Andrae is pastor. Pastor Andrae was very much disturbed by the tragedy. He grew very earnest over it. He showed that Wendlandt's training, education and life unfitted him for a hand to hand struggle for existence. His pride would not let him beg. He was a stranger. By working all night for a German newspaper he could sometimes make $2. He tried a dozen different hings without success. He saw no hope in the future. He could only die. Then the crowd came forth to ent things without success. He saw in the future. He could only die. Then the crowd came forth to Look IPON THE DEAD.

Wendlandt's casket was not opened. On the top was a photograph showing his hand some, refined face to advantage. The tiny babe lay in the arms of the mother. The little one had only a taste of life. He lived in his mother's arms. He died there. He was there when they found the bodies. Still he rests with her. The little form was all in white. The whiteness of death was there. It was a sweet face, with sorrowful lines in it. Then they took the little family away to Hoboken Cemetery. Wendlandt was graduated from some of the highest of the German universities. Less than a year ago he married a woman who was beneath him in social position. This caused a rupture with his family. He was sent to America. He arrived in Hoboken on December 31 and went to live with Jacob Smith. He left him in debt, in March, Mrs. Knobbe loaned Wendlandt $55 with which to surchase household goods and took a mortgage on the house. When Mrs. Knobbe married again on July 1 she forcelosed the mortgage. Wentlandt had three days in which to raise the house. When Mrs. Knobbe married again on July 1 she foreclosed the mortgage. Wentlandt had three days in which to raise the monoy. He was unsuccessful. On the night of July 8 he went with his wife and baby to the free awimming baths at the foot of Fifth street. They threw themselves in the water at that place.

THE CARMICHAEL DIVORCE CASE. Fatally Injured-Killed by the Cars-

Missouri Mutters. CHILLICOTHE, Mo., July 8.-The Carmichael divorce case, involving the custody of an 11-year-old boy, was on trial yesterday. The case was brought here on a change of venue from Clinton County. The Carmichaels were married in 1878 and lived together until March 15, 1890. The plaintiff charges his wife with writing letters to different men and with in-writing letters to different men and with infidelity. Mr. Carmichael is a Baptist minister and has preached since 1879 at Knonnoster, Nevada, Princeton and other points in Missouri. Great interest is taken in the case, the court room being crowded.

NEVADA, July 8.—Mrs. Samuel Hays was fataily injured by being thrown from a wagon. The team ran away and finally became separated from the vehicle. Two children, aged 2 and 4, slept through it all in the bottom of the wagon and were found uninjured.

A. C. Hadsell was found dead on a cot in his yard, seven miles west of here, yesterday. He had a haiter around his neck and the other end attached to a cherry tree. He was 83 years of age.

LITTLE CHILDREN GOING AMONG THE

How City Boys and Girls Are Cared For in

This morning at the Union Depot a Post-DISPATCH reporter noticed Mrs. Cunliff, one of the prominent workers in the Children's Aid Society, struggling against the surging tide of humanity and keeping a watchful eye on some half a dozen little children, who were clinging, some to her hands and some to her dress. The children were neatly clad, but evidently their parents. if they have any, had not been able to afford very much outlay on their little wardrobes. The children for the most part looked delicate and as though a little tonic in the shape of Fortunately for them and thanks to the ladies heartily enjoy the neuton that the property ing gather in the crops.

MAKING FRIENDS.

There is very little diffility experienced in placing the children. The little ones may be full of miscalef and fun, but they have a store of such endearing ways that the farmers among whom they spend the summer generally get so proud of them that when September I comes parting is both difficult and painful. Several children go this year to houses in which they spent the heated term last year and a right hearty welcome they are certain of. Three children who were sent out last year are still with their foster parents, and one little girl has spent two years in what she has got to regard as her home. Of course, in the case of children with parents, the stay can only be indefinitely prolonged with their consent. Often during the fall and winter little presents arrive from the capacity for children, and a visit from the farmer and his wife is by no means uncommon. All parties seem benefited by the fresh air mission, and the children in many instances do good as well as derive benefit in consequence of the society's generosity and good management.

The Ladies' Fresh Air Mission.

Over a thousand children, accompanied by sion on the river. They were sent out by the adles of the Fresh Air Mission and are under ladies of the Fresh Air Mission and are under their care and charge. The steamer Grand Republic tied up at the foot of Locust street this morning and for over an hour the children accompanied by their mothers kept pouring on board. Hundreds of babes in arms were among the passengers and there were scores of older children. A few were as old as 14 or 15 years, but nearly all the young-sters were under the age of 19 years. Many of them were crippied and there were others beyond number whose pale, worn faces indicated only too plainly that sickness and disease had made serious inroads on their little bodies. They seemed badly in need of a little fresh air, and the wasted forms of some indicated that this would probably be the last excursion the little darlings would ever be able to take in this world.

OLEAN AND JOYOUS.

There were both white and colored children in the party, and every mother seemed to have taken particular pains to have her child look as neat as any on board the boat. The children were all clad in the best clothes the meager means of their parents could afford and many of them were so well dressed that it was evident their parents did not come from the very poorest walks of life. The mothers all wore looks of satisfaction on their faces and all the children who were able to get about jumped around in the liveliest manner and exhibited the greatest joy.

That the children considered the excursion a treat was made clearly evident to the most casual observer. On board the boat were a number of the laddes of the Fresh Air Mission, for themselves and children, and their was a nursing babe in the arms of one of the women, while at their sides were a little cripple boy and another child. The party got aboard the wharfboat adjoining where the Grand Republic had landed, and there, where they could touch the boat and talk to those aboard, they remained for five minutes while the steamer was endeavoring to clear a Northern Line boat which was unloading at the wharf. Finally the boat pulled out with its merry party of excursionists and the women and children walked slowly and sorrowfully up the levee. As they passed a party of colored men who knew them one of the men inquired:

of colored men who knew them one of the men inquired:

"War you too late fo' de 'scursion?"

"Nah, indeed, replied one of the women;
"we dun got dar in heaps of time, but dey wouldn't wait for us."

And the little party wended its way along the levee while the boat with its happy excursionists steamed merrily up the river. They will go as far as Wilson's Island, where they will and and give the children a chance to spend a few hours plenicking. They return this evening.

A THEATRICAL MANAGER'S INCOME. Sidney Resenfeld Examined as to Bis Financial Resources.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, July 8.—Abraham L. Jacobs was yesterday appointed by Judge Andrews of the Supreme Court receiver of the property of Sidney Rosenfeld, the theatrical manager. Some months ago Maurice Untermeyer obtained a judgment for over $5.000 against Manager Rosenfeld, which he has been unable to collect. In order to ascertain what property Rosenfeld had, if any, that could be used to satisfy the judgment he was examined in supplementary proceedings. He testified that he owned no property or jewelry and that all the household goods in his residence at Yonkers belonged to Mrs. Rosenfeld. He said that his income from the royalties received from the production of "The Senator" during the past year has averaged $200 per week. He has been drawing two and one-half per cent of royalties on the gross receipts, but he stated that his royalties are mortgaged for one year ahead to Samuel French & Son and Theodore Moss, who holds claims for about five thousand dollars against him. Mr. Rosenfeld says that he has written the "Whiriwind" for Helen Dauvray Ward, which is to be brought out the coming season. She has paid him $5,000 in advance, and under hiscontract he is to receive ten per cent of the weekly gross receipts until $5,000 has been paid and after that five per cent upon the weekly receipts. He also admitted having received $1,000 from Manager French under a contract to write a new comedy. erty Rosenfeld had. If any, that could be use

THREATENED BY DROUTH

DANGEROUS CONDITION OF THE CROPS IN STATES IN THE COEN BELT.

Anxiety Felt in Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska on Account of the Lack of Rain-The Corn in Bad Condition-Sharp Rise in Prices-Heavy Cattle

ent drouth continues the resulting shortage will be most serious. From all parts of the States of Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas and Nebraska reports have been received that scarcely any rain has fallen for several weeks past, and the corn is plainly showing the effects of the lack of rain.

From lows the reports are particularly discouraging. Information has been received from the best corn counties in the State to the effect that a series of hot, dry winds, coupled with the lack of rain, have gone far toward ruining the crop, and that the continuance of left last night for New York, thence to the the present climatic conditions for a few days longer will practically destroy the corn in the yield in all parts of the State. In Illinois the state of affairs is scarcely better. Little actual damage dured about as much dry weather as it can stand, and unless there are heavy rains before the end of the week the loss will be very ous in all parts of the State. In Nebraska and Northern Kansas the hot winds have done nouch damage, although the corn is in better condition than that of lowa. In Missouri the need of rain is not as pressing, but the con-tinuance of the drouth for a few days will en-tail a heavy loss to the farmers. Throughout the corn belt the ground is parched and dry and is greatly in need of rain.

the corn beit the ground is parched and dry and is greatly in need of rails.

ADVANCE IN PRICES.

The news of the condition of the corn crop caused quite a scare among dealers, and the price rose sharply. On Thursday at the close of business August corn was selling at 334c. Yesterday it brought 354c, and the general opinion was that unless nows was received of rains in the corn beit the price would go higher. A great degree of uncertainty prevails as to what the outcome will be. The condition of the corn is such that a few good rains will counteract all the damage that has been done and will render the crop an excellent one. The continuance of the present dry spell will entail a very heavy shortage, variously estimated at from 20 to 40 per cent. Most of the corn can stand the lack of water until the latter part of the present week, but it is predicted that if the dry spell continues until the first of next week a very considerable portion of the crop will be utterly rained, and that the yield will be exceedingly short.

THE EFFCT ON GRAZERS.
The cattle traders of Illinois, Missouri, Kan-The cattle traders of lithole, hissour, kan-sas and lowa are also very anxious concern-ing the outlook. The lack of rain has not only injured the grass, but has caused many attreams to dry up. The effect of this is to throw all the cattle upon the pastures near the larger streams. These are now carrying as many cattle as they can feed, even were the grass in good condition and now carrying as many cattle as they can feed, even were the grass in good condition, and are not able to supply the demand thus suddenly made upon them. In Iowa especially the grass is parched and dry, and the water supply is rapidly failing. In santicipation of heavy losses unless something is done to relieve the pressure upon such pastures as are still in condition to carry stock, the farmers are rushing such cattle as are in anything like salable condition to market as rapidly as possible, and it is feared that unless a general rainfall thoughout the country affected occurs within a few days opinion of the fairindeaness of Australsport to win in Australia," said Holske, un. Any man who can win a big Botany can carry off as high as £6,000. Ed Skinner won one and got as his share £2,000, but he had to meeal his real form for a year before he won, or at least got on a mark where he could win. narley Samuels, the aboriginal, is the best man they have, and he can beat the world. Only think of a black man running seven vards inside of even time to 130 yards, and purses to keep body and soul together. I purses to keep body and soul together. I saw him as a handy man about a bar and boxing room, and he felt rich when he was given £5 for winning a tough glove fight. Jim McGarrigle can do six yarde inside, and when he won two handicaps, he saved his money, and is worth about £3,000. There are fully ten others who can run from two to five yards inside or even time, and none can show a dollar they can call their own. They can beat the world easily at that game, and the people are not slow in telling strangers so. A runner who is promising and has a good start is sometimes kept for two years before he is sent for a win. Then he gets a small place of the outside gambling and the prizo money, while the backers pocket the cream.

Greatest Sprinters in the World-An ipodean Heavy Weight Who Can Whip Jackson and Would Prove a Good Match for Sullivan—Base Ball, Bacing and Sporting News of All Kinds.

'The best of the school of puglists are now in this country, though they still have one or two good ones there yet, and it is only a question of time when they will come here. Joe Goddard is a great heavy-weight, who has won enough reputation in the colonies to enable him to make a few dollars. He once pounded Jackson in a few rounds in such a manner as to demonstrate his ability to whip the black man. When he bested Jackson he was merely raw material and had done a hard day's work in the mine. He has since learned how to fight and defeated Owen Sullivan, the terror of the mining region, and all the principal heavy-weights there. He and his blm as a handy man about a bar and

He and his brother are to accompany a gentleman to England shortly and will after a fight or two there, come to this country to meet any of the big fellows here. I titink he can whip Jackson sure, and he and Suilivan would make a grand contest. Jim Hail, their middle-weight, has just reached. Frisco, and wants Dempsey's scalp, but Jack will whip him. Jim Burge, the light-weight champion is about 38 years old and, like good port wine, he improves with age. ### Poor Old England.

Nune Wallace cut up very badly with Geo. Dixon, writes Macon. In fact he doesn't seem to have been in it with the dark Boston bean with the rapidity of American thumpers, neither do they follow up an advantage as promptly. In the first round of this fight Wallace ducked under several of Dixon's blows very cleverly. Dixon soon gauged, his man's ducks and upper cut him with tremendons force. These hits dazed the Englishman, and then the story was told. He was helpless at the last, but he was not the typical John Buil fighter, who contests while consciousness exists. In this respect the modern English ghter is far behind his Colonial brother from the antipodes. English supremacy in athletics is fast passing away. The supineness with which the English now accept defeat is to me an evidence of the nation's decline. It wasn't so in the days of the Iron Duke. eater. English puglilists as a rule do not fight which St. Louis flour was discriminated against by Texas roads, in the interest of against by Texas roads, in the interest of that chair for a lady, and I'm going to have it."

The born graphed one end of the city during March last, matter was brought to the attention of the railway officials by St. Louis millers and grain receivers, backed by a number of Texas farmers, and a request was made that the inequality be righted. A DAMAGING ADMISSION. The Missouri and Kansas lines admitted and expressed their willingness to amend their schedule. The Texas lines, however, while not defending the freight rates adopted, stated that they were operating in the interest of the Texas millers, and declined to make any change. As a last resort suit was brought before the Interstate Commission. This suit not only involves the question of the ability of the railroads to discriminate against St, Louis in the interest of the Texas mills, but also has a direct bearing upon the legality of the demand made by the Galveston merchants, and granted by some of the Texas roads, that tariffs be so manipulated as to increase the local that the tariff on flour and wheat was wrong, granted by some of the Texas roads, that tariffs be so manipulated as to increase the local rate from St. Louis, or to decrease that from Gaiveston in such a manifer as to allow Gaiveston lower freight rates to interior Texas points than are granted to St. Louis.

CAUSE OF THE UNPAIR RATES.

The history of the manner in which the tariff on flour discriminating against St. Louis was adopted in peculiar. Seven years ago there was a succession of three fine crops in the wheat belt of Texas, concomitant with a failure of crops in Missouri and Kansas. Officers and stockholders of the Texas roads became convinced that this state of affairs would be permanent, and in consequence a number of mills were erected contiguous to what was believed to be the coming wheat district of the Southwest. The conditions, instead of being permanent, proved to be entirely exceptional, the Texas crop has never slace been anything like so large, and the Kansas and Missouri crops have never fallen so low as they did just before the Texas mills were receted. The result was that these mills would have been a dead loss if allowed to stund on their own basis, without assistance from the railroads, and this assistance necessarily took the form of discrimination hostile to other producing cities, especially to St. Louis. Not enough wheat has been known in the vicinity of the mills to keep them ousy for three months in the year and if they undertook to import grain, the Kansas and St. Louis flour could be sold at the Texas mills worted measures to counteract the natural disadvantages under which the Texas flour men labored.

For a long time there has been a serious complaint concerning the manner in which St. Louis flour was discriminated "Yes, sir," he replied. "I want to rest my foot."

"Well," retorted young Romberg, "I want that chair for a lady, and I'm going to have it."

Then Romberg grabbed one end of the settee and the old gentleman the other. A tug of war ensued, and the test of strength suddenly teiling on the old fellow he reiin quished his hold on the chair and Romberg leil violently to the ground. As soon as he regained his feet he started to punish the old gentleman, but Alfred E. Hassel, an insurance broker, who is stopping at the Oriental Hotel, Manhattan Beach, Interfered and warned him not to lay hands on the old man. Then Hassel walked up to Romberg and accused him of assaulting the old gentleman.

"You are a story teller," politely returned the Outing Clubman.

"And you, sir, are a plain every-day liar," indignantly exclaimed the broker.

After glaring at one another furlously for a moment the angry men flew at one another like a couple of tigers. Romberg let out with his right and caucht the broker in the eye. The latter retailated by knocking the Outing Clubman down. Then they cleuched, and were having it out hammer and tongs when they crashed through a window into the ladies' cabin. sue." said he. "We don't care for the tariff. But there is only one way the negro quesadopted measures to counteract the natural disadvantages under which the Texas flour men labored.

A tariff was established in accordance with which the rate on wheat shipped to Texas was made much lower than the tariff on flour sents to the same points. The effect of this was to artificially impede the movement of flour to Texas millers to the Texas millers to charge a price for their output which they could not obtain were wheat and flour put on the same basis. The managers of the Texas roads do not deny that the tariff is intended to be a discriminating that the tariff is intended to be a discriminating that the tariff is intended to be a discriminating the same footing. There have been strong protests from Texas itself, as the consumers are very much disinclined to pay a high price for their flour for the sole benefit of the millers. THE LOTTERY BILL VETOED. Gov. Nicholls' Message to the Assembly of

Louisiana. BATON ROUGE, La., July 8 .- Gov. Nicholls returned the lottery bill to the House yesterday afternoon without his approval. veto message is a very strong one. The Governor refers in it to the arguments which he ernor reters in it to the arguments which he made in his inaugural address to show that the institution should not be allowed to fasten itself upon the State. The views he then held have only been strengthened, he says during the session of the General Assembly. The persistent efforts which have heave most of the control of the control of the session of the control of the contro deed be ashamed to let my left hand know what my right hand had done. I place the honor of the State above money, and in ex-pressing that sentiment I sincerely voice that of thousands of brave and frue men, of good and devout women of the State."

Venice, Ill. A system of sewers is being constructed in the town of Madison.

The Venice Reds defeated the Poplars of St. Louis, Sunday, by a score of 12 to 1. Threshing is well under way in the American Bottom. Wheat is yielding but little more than a haif a crop. The steamer Grand Republic will stop at the ferry landing at 10:15 a. m. Friday, for the Sunday-school excursionists.

No Land on which the sun Shine Possesses greater natural advantages than c own, but there are portions of the great grain bearing West and fertile South where atmos pheric influences prejudicial to health militate against them, in some degree, as places of resi dence. Heavy rainfalls and the overflow of great rivers, which upon their subsidence leave dank vegetation exposed to the rays of the sun, there beget malarisi fevers, and there also the in-habitants are periodically obliged to use some habitants are periodically obliged to use some medicinal eafeguard against the scourge. The most popular is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a preventive that has for over a third of a century afforded feliable protection to those whom experience in the futility et ordinary remedies for lever and ague has taught to substitute for them. Whether intermittent or remittent miasomatic fevers are conquered and severed by the apperbantiperiodic and fortifying medicine as they are by an other preparation in use. Use it, and abandon impure local bitters.

The Shah of Persia

Though advanced in years, has hair of raven hue. Gray hairs are strictly prohibited in his dominions, and hence the large shipments to that country of Ayer's Hair Vigor, by the use of which the Shah's subjects save not only their hair but their heads. Ayer's Hair Vigor restores the natural color of the hair. It should be on every toilet-table.

"Some time ago my hair began to fade and to fall out so badly that I thought I should be bald; but the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor be bald; but the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor has restored the original color and made my hair strong, abundant, and healthy. It does not fall out any more."—Addie Shaffer, 540 Race st., Cincinnati, Ohlo.

"My hair (which had partly turned gray) was restored to its youthful color and beauty by the use of a few bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor. I shall continue to use it, as there is no better dressing for the hair."—Galdo Gapp, Georgeana, Ala.
